

WASHINGTON, D. C., SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1913.

Society

June, the Month of Weddings

THE National Capital has the honor of entertaining two distinguished visitors this week, one an old, familiar friend, former President William Howard Taft, whose genial presence and hearty goodfellowship has endeared him to hundreds of Washingtonians, and Dr. Lauro Muller, minister of foreign affairs of Brazil, who comes to this country to return the visit made by Senator Root, then Secretary of State, in 1906.

Mr. Taft is busy renewing old friendships, and is being extensively entertained here, but no state affairs have been arranged in his honor, as he prefers to waive all formality. Yesterday he lunched with the President and Mrs. Wilson at the White House, and in the afternoon played golf with Mr. Boardman, his host, and a number of other friends, at the Chevy Chase Club. Mr. and Mrs. Boardman entertained informally in his honor at dinner last night at their residence in P Street.

Mr. Taft will attend service at the Unitarian Church this morning, after which he will lunch with Senator and Mrs. Francis G. Newlands at their country home in Woodley Lane. Tonight he will dine informally with Mr. and Mrs. Boardman at the Country Club.

Many delightful entertainments are being arranged in honor of Dr. Muller, Brazilian minister of foreign affairs. The Brazilian Ambassador and members of the embassy staff will go to Hampton Roads to meet the fleet which is bringing the distinguished visitor to these shores.

On Wednesday evening President and Mrs. Wilson will be hosts at a small reception in honor of Dr. Muller, and during the week three state dinners will be given in his honor, the Secretary of State, the Brazilian Ambassador, and Mr. John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union, as hosts.

With the arrival of June it seemed as if all Washington were in a marrying mood, and the marriage license bureau is reaping a rich harvest. There were weddings for every day last week, and there promises to be an equal number taking place within the next ten days. All last week society paid tribute to the "June brides," and there were few festivities that were not given in honor of bridal parties.

It rarely occurs that Washington girls marry Washington men. They usually go far afield for a better—or worse—half, and the same may be said of the men. In other cities they are more clamorous, and young women and men, who have been boy and girl sweethearts in the past, marry, and, as the modern fairy tale has it, live happily together ever after.

The wedding of Miss Anne Greble, daughter of Col. E. St. John Greble, U. S. A., and Mrs. Greble, is of much interest to Washingtonians, although the bride is an "army girl," and not a native of the National Capital. Miss Greble, as well as her sister, Miss Mildred Greble, is extremely popular among her many friends here, as well as in army circles, and her presents have been both numerous and handsome.

The marriage of Miss Greble and Dr. William Lawrence Estes, of South Bethlehem, Pa., will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, and Bishop Talbot, of Pennsylvania, and the Rev. Dr. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas', will officiate.

The church ceremony will be followed immediately by a reception at the Playhouse. Miss Mildred Greble will be her sister's maid of honor, and the other attendants will be Mrs. Quincy A. Gilmore, of Philadelphia; Miss Marcia Estes, sister of Dr. Estes, and Miss Jeanette Allen. Lieut. E. St. John Greble will be best man, and the ushers will include Dr. John Gerster, of New York; Mr. G. Barrett Littell, of New York, and Dr. Frank Sladen, Dr. Guthrie, and Dr. Walter Baerger, all of Johns Hopkins.

The President and Mrs. Wilson occupied a box at the Columbia Theater last night and had with them Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, Miss Wilson, and Miss Eleanor Wilson.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Josephus Daniels will leave Washington on Wednesday for Boston, Mass., and will be there for Flag Day. Secretary Daniels will inspect the Boston Navy Yard.

The German Ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, went yesterday to Princeton, N. J., and is the house guest of President Woodrow Wilson.

Parmelee-Henry

A beautiful nuptial wedding took place last night at the residence of Representative and Mrs. Robert Lee Henry, in Nineteenth Street, when their daughter, Miss Lella May Henry, and Ensign Harold Perry Parmelee, U. S. N., were married. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William W. McManister, of the First Baptist Church, in the presence of the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom.

The rooms were adorned with roses, peonies, palms, and smilax, and the bride and groom stood under a perfect bower of fragrant blossoms.

The lovely bride entered the room on her father's arm, preceded by her maid of honor, Miss May Armstrong, and the strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" approached the improvised altar, where stood the bridegroom and his best man, Ensign Bruce Leighton, U. S. N., in their full-dress uniforms, and Rev. Dr. McManister.

The bride wore an exquisite gown of white tulle, and her hair was styled in a simple, becoming manner. She carried a bouquet of white roses and a small hat of the same color. The bridegroom wore a tuxedo and a white tie. The ceremony was a simple and beautiful one, and the bride and groom were united in marriage.

The bride, who was escorted by her brother-in-law, looked charming in a modish champagne-colored silk traveling suit, and a small hat of the same shade trimmed with pink roses. She wore a handsome gown of black crepe.

The bride, who was escorted in marriage by her brother, Mr. William P. Paul Block perform the ceremony, an artistic arch constructed of palms, forming a background to the scene.

Her only attendant was Miss Verdalyne Connelly, a cousin of the bride. Accompanying the bridegroom as best man was Mr. Thomas Davidson, younger brother of the bride. Miss Edith B. Ather, of this city, played the wedding march.

On account of an unexpected call received by Mr. Simpson to meet his sister Mrs. Frederick N. In an inexpensive extract to be had at any drug store, the essence of the perfume of a thousand blossoms, and by a very simple method this marvelous compound of rarest and selected ingredients is released in full fragrance—one of the rarest, subtlest, most fascinatingly elusive perfumes known.

Two drams of floral concentrate, combined with four ounces deodorized alcohol—that's the wonder of it! Any of the readers of this department have ever heard of this and tried it? I have made up a quantity of this delightful bouquet at the trifling cost of twenty-one and a quarter cents an ounce, and I know of no other that can equal it, not even the very costliest that can equal it. It has an odor that one cannot forget, permeating, yet delicate and lasting. I poured the ingredients into my largest perfume bottle, after thoroughly rinsing it, then corked the bottle immediately, and some of its precious contents might be wasted.
